They say if you don't have trust, you don't have a marriage. In the fifth and final installment of Good Girls Love Thugs: Nic and Kendrick, the couple learns just how important trusting one another is. When an incident occurs, putting Kendrick in the middle of a scandal, Nic has to figure out whether she should trust her man or move on to greener pastures. Kendrick loves his wife more than anything, but sometimes love just isn't enough; especially when there is another man who is willing to stick by Nic through thick and thin. Will Kendrick be able to convince Nic that despite his mistakes, she belongs with him, or will he have to accept that she's moved on to a man that she feels will treat her the way she deserves to be treated. Get on this emotional roller coaster ride, and find out if this good girl will forever love her thug, or simply leave him in the dust.

The end

By Queena

Nic completely lost her mind in this book. I understand her insecurity but her behavior wore me out. I found myself skipping pages. I'm just glad everyone was happy in the end. Good job on this series.

No no no

By Tyanna

Dang this book was all wrong. After all that they been through in this series this book was suppose to be about growth. Not insecurities, childishness, and plain ole foolishness. Nic disgusted me, the way she treated her husband who she so call forgave and how she carried herself was disappointing. I would much rather had read about another one of the characters love stories or NAKO should've left well enough alone at book 4. I would've been happy to see Kendrick leave her

SMH

By Sweet C

Honestly I'm not sure why this series didn't end at book 4. Nic was immature as all get out. How do you claim you love your husband so much but, turn to another man??!!!! Then when your husband wants a divorce you don't want to give it to him. Crazy. To make it worse she is so called going to divorce him at her engagement party knowing she's pregnant by her husband and still loves him. Kendrick should've dropped her.
